

Milan, Italy

The hard-working Milanese run their busy metropolis with efficiency and aplomb. It is the country's economic engine room. This stylish city is also the world's design and fashion capital. It is distinctly sophisticated; shopping, whether of the window variety or - for those who can afford it - the real thing is of an almost religious significance. Food is another one of Milan's joys; try the exquisite Lombard dishes such as the famous risottos.
