

Brighton, U.K.

Britain's favourite seaside city. Nestling between the South Downs and the Channel on England's sunny south coast Brighton is a rich mix of Regency heritage, specialist shopping, lively arts, beachfront fun and year round events, not forgetting its very own royal palace and the exotic Royal Pavilion. Perfect for a break at any time of the year Brighton is a compact city with everything within walking distance, and just under an hour by train from London.

Neo Hotel Avantgarde Comfort

An insider secret, decorated by an interiors stylist (Stephanie Harding, owner of the hotel) the Neo Hotel is individual and sexy, a thoroughly 21st century eccentric up-scale Bed and Breakfast. A beautiful georgian grade II listed townhouse where modern oriental opulence meets regency romance by the sea. All rooms are decorated in a highly individual style. Bathrooms are designed to complement with matte black mosaic tiles, large chrome shower heads, cone basin sinks and slick polished chrome.

Beautiful satin kimonos are provided for the guests. All rooms have five star pocket sprung club beds, white cotton sheets, DVD library, and Bodum Kettles for making drinks. Guests are also treated to the in-house organic hair and body wash in soothing essences ginger, lemon grass and others. The newly opened bar also combines cool with comfort where you can sit and sip a cocktail in decadent style on white leather banquettes. The pancakes at breakfast are outstanding!

Location: near the West Pier. Five minutes from the buzz and seconds from the sea, it is ideally located in the secluded streets between Brighton and Hove.
